their 40s and older because of the detail and patience needed to create these landscapes.

"I think this a fun addition to Copper Days and hopefully we will even get people interested in doing it as a hobby which will mean more collectors participating next year," Crimmins said.

The competition will be held at 2-5 p.m. Saturday at the Grand Encampment Museum livery stable. The event is free to competitors and observers.

Copper Days is also known for its family dances. This year, it will not be a polka band playing, but the high-energy country band The Tailgate Rockstar Band of Fort Collins. The dance will be held at the Grand Encampment Hall and the cost is $10 per person and children under 12 are free. Snacks and refreshments are included in the ticket price and there is a cash bar.

Crimmins said Encampment resident Brett Miller will be giving free swing dance lessons at the Encampment Opera House from 7-9 p.m. Friday, so there is no excuse for dancing shoes not to be broken out the next evening.

Event sponsors include Power Company of Wyoming, Wind River Hotel and Casino, Carbon County Visitors Council, Wyoming Arts Council, Platte Valley Arts Council and Saratoga/Platte Valley Chamber of Commerce.

"The events are free except for the dance so it is really it is a great chance for a family to get out together and take in a whole weekend with each other," Crimmins explained on why Copper Days continues to be popular with residents and visitors of Carbon County.

Garden grows for 9/11

Med Bow makes use of Day of Service and Remembrance grant to add to Community Garden, host memorial

By Mike Armstrong

Kay Embree, member of American Legion Auxiliary (ALA), approached the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) and the ALA about a grant to help get the Medicine Bow community garden cleaned up for a 9/11 memorial service, and was awarded $1,000.

Numerous projects are set to be completed for the memorial including installing a memorial bench and sign, inlaying an ALA emblem, planting trees and building a gravel pathway.

Embree said work starts at 9 a.m. and will go to noon when the Medicine Bow Senior Center will be offering lunches for $8 ($4 if 60 and over). Reservations are required, call 307-379-2270.

At 1 p.m. work will start on unfinished projects. At 3:30 p.m. Mayor Kevin Colman is scheduled to speak in tribute to those lost in the 9/11 attacks.

The CNCS is a federal agency that engages more than five million Americans in service through Senior Corps, AmeriCorps, and other programs. The September 11 National Day of Service and Remembrance is why the grant was dispersed to Medicine Bow.

Starting in 2002, 9/11 family members and support groups wanted to provide a productive and respectful way to honor the memory of those who were lost, while also rekindling the spirit of unity and compassion that swept the nation after 9/11.

As a result of their efforts, the September 11 National Day of Service and Remembrance was established into law by the Edward M. Kennedy Serve America Act in 2009. The September 11 National Day of Service and Remembrance, a federally recognized observance, is being supported collaboratively by the Corporation for National and Community Service and the nonprofit MyGoodDeed.

Medicine Bow is the only town in the state to receive the grant for the September 11 National Day of Service and Remembrance this year.
