MOU would be discussed in council before any action was taken.

Nelson pointed out that, originally, the MOU discussions centered on whether the town should have authority to control development outside of town in a half mile area. He continued that this was met with opposition and the commission understood the lack of representation in that kind of authority over people who could not vote for the officials making those decisions. Nelson went on to explain that the wording had been dialed back to the current notification process.

A back and forth ensued on what would happen if Kerbs wanted to install a nuclear waste dump. Nelson said that the town would be notified and would likely tell the county, "Hey county, we know that this is your call, and the ball's in your court and it's your hearing and they are your regulations that Mr. Kerbs is following—but we really don't want a nuclear dump facility up from the town."

After some more back and forth Beckmann said, "I think, to me, it makes sense that anything in this area could have an impact on town infrastructure and require additional planning on the town. Scott, I definately understand your concerns and hope the council will end up being made aware—and hope you can present your side to the town council—but I think I am going to second the motion on this because I like the idea of the process. Honestly, going it through the county, I don't foresee where any landowner is going to be slighted in the process. I think that is what happens when someone buys land near town."

That being said, the MOU was unanimously sent to the town council.

Zoning Officer Report

Town Zoning Officer Dan Ferrin said that he had sent the zoning officer's report to the commission via email. When asked later what that report contained Ferrin said it was a list of building permits issued recently.

Ferrin also said he would be getting with new committee member Bob Keel to update him on what was going on.

Next Meeting

The last agenda item being disposed of, the meeting was adjourned. The next scheduled meeting of the Saratoga Planning commission is set for 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 12 at the Saratoga Town Hall.
